15	Special Contribution – setting up of institution / college / school etc	:	I am an Industry-academia. I am having academical involvements along with practical industrial experiences in hi-tech and other industries. Research interest and publications are in developing empirical financial accounting, cost and management accounting, financial management and control management tools and techniques. Those which will support the activities range from service firms, trading and manufacturing firms to firms involved in social activities. I have specifically dedicated my majority years after post doctorate to develop the accounting concept without Debit and Credit. The concept has been based on the primary theoretical teaching note of Harvard Business School, which I attempted and used to taught the non-commerce background students of management education.

			The approach I have named as “ Modern Approach of Accounting ”, where the traditional accounting rules of debit and credit are being substituted by five simple categorizations. The said work has been accepted at large by academia. The recognition came to such an extent that same work has been published by world’s first level publication house and University, i.e., OXFORD University. My new approach has been implemented throughout the world, and now a day’s my book sold across the globe. This is one of my major contributions to the Academia.
